

Uxbridge, April 19th 1996

Dear Customer,

Thank you for being one of the 200,000 early adopters in Europe of the award winning PCI-based Power Macintosh computers. As you know, quality and customer satisfaction are traditional hallmarks of Apple products and our customers expect these high standards to be maintained. To make sure that you get maximum performance and benefits out of your system, we are happy to provide you with the latest release of Mac OS™ (release 75.3).

Apple's new System 75.3 delivers significant performance improvements and other enhancements whilst maintaining the seamless software integration consistently recognized as a distinguishing attribute of the Macintosh operating system :

- more PowerPC-native components giving you extra computing power,
- increased system reliability and memory management improvements,
- better third party applications efficiency including Microsoft Office,
- feature enhancements including new Finder, translucent drag and drop, desktop printing, QuickTime 2.1 and Open Transport 1.1.

Enclosed, is your copy of System 75.3. To upgrade your PCI-based Power Macintosh with System 75.3, you may choose :

- either to install the new system software by launching the Installer on the enclosed CD, and following the instructions in the " Updating to System Software 75.3 " leaflet. (90 days free telephone support is available through the Apple Assistance Centre on 0990 127753)
- or to use the Free Service Coupon included at your nearest Apple Authorised Service Provider for an installation free of charge.

We hope that this new release of Mac OS™ will provide you with the extra satisfaction that you were expecting from your Power Macintosh computer .

Yours sincerely,

Frederic Spagnou

Vice President of Apple Computer, Inc.
